Hibiscus Tango Queen - Deep tango; eight feet.

There are, of course, other examples, but these are the main ones. Of these, Canary Islands is quite the most satisfactory Hibiscus to grow. It grows into a small tree or attractive bush some eight to ten feet in height and it is very free-flowering. Its flower is single, shrimp-pink with a crimson eye.

Also very delightful is Princess Marina which is sometimes single but largely double, shell pink. It is very beautiful and grows eight feet high and flowers well.

There are also others growing in gardens in this country, such as the following:

Hibiscus Mary Wilson - is a chrome yellow Hibiscus growing six to eight feet high.

Hibiscus Subdariffa ("Rozelle") - is a single Hibiscus with beautiful bronze colour leaves and deep rose colour flowers.

Hibiscus Peach Blossom - Single Hibiscus with smaller flowers than usual but in profusion.

In the Federation there are a number of varieties not available in South Africa. These include the following:

Hibiscus Agnes Galt - which is a single cerise, shaded rose, and grows to a height of eight feet.

Hibiscus Apple Blossom - single pink, growing to a height of eight feet.

Hibiscus D. J. O'Brien - which is a magnificient variety with flowers in an orange colour growing to eight feet high.
